CHARLESTON COUNTY CLOSURES

- The Clerk of Court has made the decision to close the Judicial Center Complex downtown at 3 p.m. today.
- The Charleston County Administrator has made the decision to close all other county buildings at 3 p.m.
- Chief Magistrate David Coker had made the decision to close Charleston County Central Bond Court at 3 p.m. today to coordinate other County office building closures. Bond Court will open at 10 a.m. on Saturday instead of the normal 8:30 a.m.
- Charleston County Public Library will close its 16 locations at 3 p.m. today and will not reopen until 12 noon, Saturday, Feb. 13. This includes the cancellation of all programs and events scheduled in the libraries during those hours. The early closing will allow staff and patrons the opportunity to get home safely before the area is impacted by expected severe weather.

Remember that Monday, Feb. 15 is a County holiday (Presidents Day) and County offices will be closed. Offices will resume normal business hours on Tuesday, Feb. 16.
