

Charleston County News Release

Release Number: 3331
Date: August 24, 2011

Charleston County Moves to OPCON 4 at 3 a p.m. for Hurricane Irene

Operating Condition 4 means an emergency or disaster situation is possible

Charleston County Government participated in a conference call today (Wednesday, Aug. 24) regarding Hurricane Irene. The call was initiated by the S.C. Emergency Management Division \(SCEMD\) and included representatives from several counties.

Based on the information learned in the conference call and the storm's current track forecast, Charleston County will move into Operating Condition (OPCON) 4 from OPCON 3 at 3 p.m. today, Wednesday, Aug. 24.

OPCON 4 means there is a possibility of an emergency or disaster situation that may require a partial or full activation of the Charleston County Emergency Operations Center (EOC). The EOC will remain partially activated until 3 p.m. Charleston County's EOC is located in the Lonnie Hamilton, III Public Services Building off Leeds Avenue in North Charleston.

"Even though we are moving back to OPCON 4, we remain aware and will continue to monitor the storm's progress. This is a powerful hurricane and its track is still uncertain. While things seem to have improved for Charleston County, we still have staff on stand-by and we are ready to take the steps necessary to keep Charleston County safe" said Cathy Haynes, Charleston County Emergency Management Department's Chief of Operations.

There will be a media availability at 2 p.m. today, inside the front door of the Lonnie Hamilton III Public Services Building.

The public is encouraged to monitor their local news media and to be prepared in case Hurricane Irene makes landfall on the state's coastline. Officials from Charleston County will stay in close communication with state agencies and other counties and organizations.
